Instructions for Use

The Levelo SkyInk Stylus Pen is a versatile device designed for iPads that functions both as a smart and a conventional pen. When used as an electrostatic pen, the nib is made of conductive plastic to interact seamlessly with the iPad's screen. As a standard ballpoint pen, the nib is crafted from metal, suitable for writing on paper. The two nibs, one plastic and one metal, can be easily interchanged. To switch the nibs, simply push the current nib to eject it and replace it with the other. Once inserted, press the new nib to secure it in place.

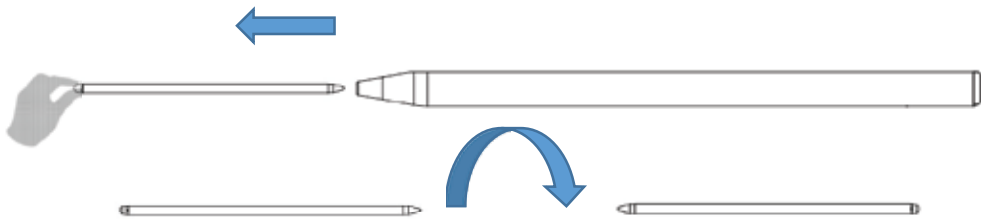

The pen is equipped with the 'Stylus Pen Nib'.

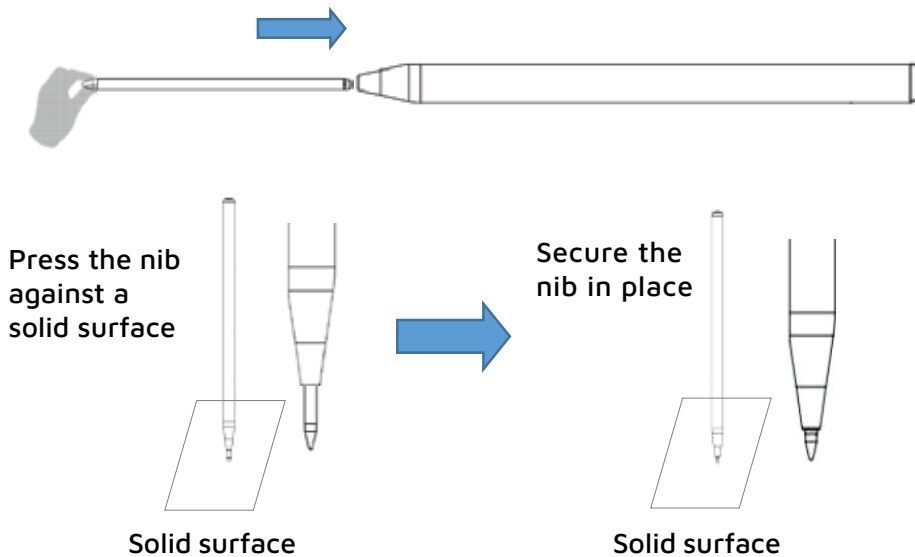

Ejecting the pen nib.

Pull out the current nib and replace it.

Insert the other nib inside the pen and fix it in place.

The pen is now equipped with the 'Conventional Ballpoint Pen Nib'.

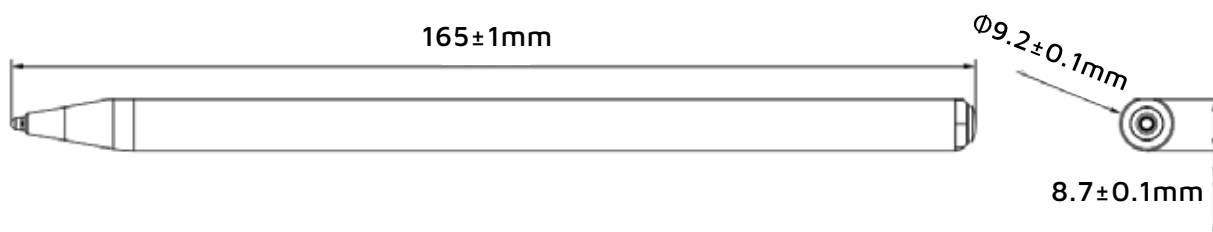

The steps to switch the pen nib are:

1. Install and use the plastic nib to draw on iPad.

The pen consists of a lithium battery, electronic components (including ICs and passive elements), and a mechanical casing. It remains active and transmits as long as the battery is charged and the pen is powered on, emitting a low-power, low-frequency signal from the nib. To conserve energy, the pen automatically switches off after 5 minutes of inactivity.
